CASES FOR THE SUPREME COURT

Six Appeals have been Taken and will be Heard at the April Term in this City.

The supreme court of errors will come in here for its April term on April 27, there being six appeals heard at that time on appeals or reservations. There are five of the cases which go up from the superior court and one from the court of common pleas.

The longest one is the case of the New London board of water commissioners vs. Robbins & Potter, the American Surety company, in which the case is very lengthy and the printed statement of the testimony will make a volume of several hundred pages. This case occupied a long time in its trial here, the appeal being taken from the judgment given. This suit resulted over the building of a reservoir for the New London board of water commissioners, the defendants being the contractors, who took the contract and did part of the job, but it was finished by others, and was brought on the bond of the contractors.

The case of Charles B. Whitaker, tr., vs. Elizabeth O. McDowell et al. was reserved for the supreme court, it being a suit over the will of David B. Whitaker. The case of Orrin B. Stedman, adm., vs. Eugene O'Neill is a Stoughton suit.

FUNERALS.

Mrs. Barbara Roessler.

The funeral of Mrs. Barbara Roessler was held from the home of her brother, J. Fred C. Roessler, at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the house being filled with relatives and friends. The services were conducted by Rev. Theodore Bauck, pastor of the German Lutheran church, who spoke in high terms of the deceased. There were many beautiful floral pieces, showing the esteem in which the deceased was held. Friends acted as bearers and burial was in Maplewood cemetery, where a committal service was read. Church & Allen had charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. Frank Draper.

On Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock the funeral of Mrs. Frank Draper was held from the rooms of Funeral Director Gager, there being many present. Rev. Dr. M. S. Kaufman, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, conducted the services and made an address. Plans to erect and Some Time We'll Understand were sung by Mrs. W. C. Haselden. There was a number of choice floral pieces. The bearers were Stephen D. Moore, H. N. Ford, Ezekiah Perkins and Henry G. Peck. Burial was in Yantic cemetery, where a committal service was read.

Mrs. J. H. Ward.

At three o'clock Wednesday afternoon the funeral of Mrs. J. H. Ward was held from the rooms of Funeral Director Gager, the services being conducted by Rev. C. H. Hickok, pastor of the Greenville Congregational church, of which the deceased was a member. There were many in attendance and a number of handsome flowers. Friends acted as bearers and burial was in the Hickory street cemetery. The bearers were William A. Harvey, Frank Osborne, Charles H. Allen, C. P. Capron, S. H. Thresher and Martin P. Bent.

FINAL MIDWEEK SERVICE.

Rev. F. S. Moore of Black Hall Preached at Trinity Episcopal Church.

For the final one of the united services held in the middle of the week through Lent by the Episcopal churches, there was a large attendance on Wednesday evening at Trinity church, Archdeacon Brown read the service for evening prayer. The preacher, Rev. F. S. Moore of Black Hall, presented to his congregation a discourse of marked appropriateness to the season in the church calendar. He spoke from the text Hebrews xii:3, "Looking unto Jesus, the author and perfecter of our faith, who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising shame, and has sat down at the right hand of the throne of God."

Rev. Mr. Moore introduced it as a thought of the early life of Christ that it was not that bright happy boyhood, such as would have been the life of any other boy, nor would not be any other have told him of the marvel of his birth, or was it not true that he was the possessor of some light from within, some flash from heaven, which revealed his divine nature. Nothing but this could account for such precociousness as he displayed in his answer to the doctors at the age of twelve. With this inner light his life goes on until at length what he has long known himself become patent to others. Always he walked with the shadow of the cross upon him, until the shadow was turned to the real and the light.

Yet he endured for the joy that was before him. His perfect obedience was the outcome of a suffering so exquisite that no other way could be found. But from the Father's love he was never cut away, between him and the Father was no other way, not only no cessation, but no interruption of perfect communion. This is the truth to be grasped. His life was in a shadow, but one in which not all of darkness, of degradation, of suffering could hide the Father's face. In all his life the interior with never rose above the superior will, and when the struggle was over there arose the glorious cry heard by the angels, when men said he spoke the words, "Not my will but thine be done."

Applying the lessons from this phase of the life of Christ, the preacher said that his life was full of many things, perhaps all. He has made it possible for men to endure the cross and that the unadvised son may be a part of each life. The world is full of silent suffering and silent sacrifice, and the more unostentatious it is, the closer it comes to the life of Jesus Christ. No life is without its shadow, but there is joy set before us in the bosom of God, so we, too, endure the cross.

Bothers Electric Clock.

The electric clock on the corner of John A. Moran's store, has been noted out of order for a few days, but this is due to the effect of the blasting upon the workings of the clock and as soon as the blasting in the Sharon building is completed the clock will be giving out time as usual with its never-failing exactness.

Wheel club was held Tuesday evening with a good attendance present. The club had a social and the initiation of two new members, Nathaniel Lord and Eugene Lambert. The club is planning for a social the latter part of the month.

Raul Lamoreux of the U. S. S. Ohio is visiting his home. He was home two weeks ago for a brief visit. In the meantime he has been visiting his parents in Canada. Mr. Lamoreux was formerly a clerk in Phillips' grocery store and later was a conductor on the trolley cars.

Claude C. Russell of New Haven, until last year principal of the Westport school, was in Taftville Wednesday, making a call on the school of two new members, Nathaniel Lord and Eugene Lambert. The club is planning for a social the latter part of the month.

brought by Mr. Stedman, who is administrator of the estate of his father, who was killed by being thrown out of a wagon, the horse running away after being frightened, as it was claimed, by a rock in the highway which an employee of the defendant contractor had left by the highway until he got his loaded team to the top of a hill.

In the case of Thomas B. Hewitt et al., ex'ms., vs. the Wheeler school library et al., several appeals have been taken from recent decisions by Judge Wheeler, and it is possible others will appear. This is a suit resulting from the will of Henry Wheeler, a former North Stoughton resident, who lived in New York and left about a quarter of a million of his death. The case of the state vs. Addie Burns will also be heard at this time. The defendant was found guilty of statutory rape at the last session of the criminal superior court and sentenced to twelve to twenty years in state prison from which she appealed and is now in jail awaiting the result of that appeal. The case from the common pleas court is The Fidelity and Casualty company vs. the Thames Ferry company.

WEDDING.

Heelock-Kenerson.

There was a pretty wedding Wednesday evening in Preston chapel after the regular Christian Endeavor meeting when Miss Beulah Pearl Heelock and Mr. Kenneth Kenerson were united in marriage by Rev. P. C. Wright, pastor of the Central Baptist church, where both bride and groom are members. The chapel was decorated with laurel, palms and Easter lilies, the color scheme of green and white being carried out with striking effect. The ceremony was performed at 8:45 o'clock under an arch of laurel and white flowers. The bride, wearing the bridal gown, was the flower girl, little Miss Grace Alling, who wore pink, and Henry A. Kenerson, the best man, who wore a tuxedo. The bride's father, Mr. Kenneth Heelock, was the officiating minister. The bride's mother, Mrs. Heelock, was the officiating minister. The bride's father, Mr. Kenneth Heelock, was the officiating minister. The bride's mother, Mrs. Heelock, was the officiating minister.

The bride was becomingly gowned in light blue silk and wore a hat of white chiffon. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. A reception for a few intimate friends and relatives followed at the newly furnished apartments where the newly married couple are to make their home at No. 617 Main street, East Side. Refreshments were served. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Heelock of Lisbon and is employed at the Greenville tannery. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Jennie M. Kenerson of No. 617 Main street, East Side, and both young people were remembered with numerous handsome presents from their many friends.

WORK AT POSTOFFICE.

Many Changes Will Be Made in the Building. Finishing of the Interior Within Next Seventy Days.

Following a visit of Inspector Condon from Washington, D. C. to the Norwich postoffice in March, the government postal authorities decided to remodel the building, and do some outside repairs, upon which the Peck, McWilliams company have been awarded the contract, according to services received by the company and Postmaster William Caruthers on Wednesday. There was one other bid for the work, but it was not accepted and must be finished in seventy days. This will have the local postoffice building looking in its best shape for the fifth anniversary celebration.

When completed, the interior will present a considerably changed appearance, as the walls, which are now white, are to be finished in colors, green and buff. The specifications call for the refinishing of the woodwork, which is quartered oak.

Covering the colors for the plaster walls and ceiling, the specifications provide that the walls of all corridors and halls are to be light sage green, cornices green. The wall and ceiling of the postoffice work room, the large room back of the boxes, are to be one solid tone, light buff. The same color will be in the money order and registry room and the mailing vestibule. The walls of the postmaster's office are to be straw color, the ceiling and cornices ivory white. The ceiling of the baseboard and chair rail is to be three shades darker than the wall. The toilet room walls and ceiling are to be one tone, light sage green. The swing room and the basement toilet room are to be the same color as for the postoffice work room.

It is also specified that the plastering and lathing of the entrance vestibule are to be reduced by quartered oak to match the present woodwork. There also are some minor repairs on the roof and the building is to be repainted. The date for the completion of the building has been looked after on recommendation of Postmaster Caruthers to keep the building in as good shape as possible.

Army and Navy Club.

It is probable that this year as last year the Army and Navy club of Connecticut will hold its annual meeting and banquet at The Griswold, Eastern Point. The Griswold was selected as the place last year, and so delighted were the members that they wish to meet there again this summer. Secretary Knowledge of the club has been elected Postmaster McGinley of New London, both members, to make arrangements. The date for the fourth Friday in June, which is the customary date for the meeting.

BALDNESS UNKNOWN

One of the most prominent druggists in America made a statement a few weeks ago which has caused a great deal of discussion among scientists in the medical press.

He said: "If the new hair grower, Parisian Sage, increases its sales as it has during the past year, it will be used by nearly every man, woman and child in America within eight years."

"And when Parisian Sage is used almost universally, dandruff will disappear, and with its departure baldness, itching scalp, splitting hair and all scalp diseases will follow, and twenty years from now a bald head will be a rarity."

There is only one way to cure dandruff and that is to kill the germ. There is only one hair preparation that will kill the germ and that is Parisian Sage. It is guaranteed to cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching of the scalp in two weeks, or money refunded.

It is the most pleasant and invigorating tonic, and is not sticky or greasy.

Contest Over Ringland Will.
In the probate court on Wednesday there was a long hearing on the will of Jane Ringland, which was dated June 20, 1904, by which she left the life use of her estate to her husband and at his death it to be divided between her two daughters, Mrs. Eliza Smith and Mrs. Annie Diwerth. Mr. Ringland was named as executor, but this was opposed because of his age, and Judge Ayling appointed James W. Semple. The will was admitted, and it is stated that the three sons are to contest the will.
